SCHOOL BUDGET LITTLE LOWER

MANY NEW TEACHERS COMING IN—FUEL COSTS ARE HIGHER—$110,000 TO BE RAISED.

The budget for the school year 1932-33 has been prepared and adopted by the board of education. The total amount is $149,000 and is slightly lower than the one a year ago. The amount to be raised by taxation is $110,000.

The amount to be raised for teachers' salaries is lower than one year ago, since many new teachers are coming in at a lower salary and with the promise of promotion. The loss of teachers older in experience means a financial saving but usually an educational loss.

The addition of another teacher for work in home economics has been recommended, but appointment will not be made yet. The primary school fund is enough above the estimate to permit the extra expenditure.

Fuel costs are higher as a considerable portion of the fuel needed had been purchased on the previous year's account. The purchase of coal for next year has been delayed to secure the decline in freight rates.

Last year the item for capital outlay was greater because of the purchase of equipment for the machine shop. No such improvements are planned for next year.

The board of education discussed the advisability of adding an item to provide for the future building program, but nothing was included for this purpose in the new budget.

Salaries for teachers will be $87,000; janitors and other wages, $10,000; fuel, $5,000; supplies, $4,300; bonds and interest, $11,000 and $6,000; capital outlay, $2,400; auxiliary agencies, including athletics, library and health service, $8,400. Estimated receipts from primary grades, tuition, taxes, etc., will be $39,000, leaving $110,000 to be raised by taxation.

REV. NEEDHAM TALKS TO KIWANIS WEDNESDAY

Rev. Father Dennis Needham was the speaker Wednesday at the Kiwanis club meeting. He said:

"Men should be charitable in their dealings with each other. This glad hand stuff is all right if there is sincerity behind it. The command given by Jesus Christ, whom all admit was the greatest teacher, that we love our neighbor as ourselves is a good one to follow in our dealings with our fellowmen. Be careful not to speak falsely against your neighbor, and do not spread calamity."

Prof. Pittman of the Normal college extended an invitation to members of the Kiwanis club on behalf of the Trailblazers and rural teachers and directors for a 6 o'clock dinner to be given next Wednesday evening in the Normal grove. Some time ago the Kiwanis club entertained the rural teachers and directors and they are now returning the compliment.

Prof. Pittman stated that 37 out of the 40 rural districts had accepted the help offered by the agricultural department of the Normal college.

Harry Sutherland announced that the Kiwanis-Rotary baseball game would be played July 27, and that the proceeds would be used to help equip the new contagious hospital to be built.

Mrs. Olive Curtice sang a group of songs and responded to an encore.

OVER TWO THOUSAND REGISTERED AT NORMAL COLLEGE.

Two thousand three hundred and sixty-three students are registered at the Normal college to date. This is the largest registration the local institution has ever had at any summer session.

CLAIMS SHE IS HIS WIFE CANNOT REMEMBER DATE

Birdie Edmunds, who claims she is the wife of Rev. Richard R. Edmunds, of this city, appeared Wednesday morning at the city hall to make a charge of bigamy against Rev. Edmunds, to whom she says she was married at Muncie, Ind., in September, 1918.

When asked to produce her marriage certificate she was unable to do so. She could not remember the name of the minister who married her to Edmunds. Rev. Edmunds admitted to Chief Connors he was married here, but he says he never was married to Birdie and says she was only his housekeeper for a year.

Mrs. Edmunds was instructed to get a certified copy of her marriage to Edmunds, which she said she would do.

VACANCIES IN CITY SCHOOLS

TEN NEW TEACHERS PROCURED AND BOARD IS CONSIDERING OTHERS.

Ten new teachers have been procured for the city schools this coming year. There are still vacancies to be filled, candidates for these positions being considered by the board now and there is a possibility of yet another resignation, according to Superintendent Erickson.

The positions left vacant by the resignation of Lester Moyer, mathematics teacher and athletic coach; Miss Mabel Eichhorn, girls' athletic director; Miss J. Irene Stewart, first grade teacher, and Mrs. A. G. Erickson, musical director, are the ones yet to be filled. In addition Superintendent Erickson is endeavoring to find a man who will take charge of a room for boys between the ages of 13 and 16 in the grades. It is possible that an additional teacher for the home economics department will also be procured.

The new teachers who will be here next year are: Merrill Dakin, in the English department, in the place of Miss Gieske. Mr. Dakin is a graduate of the University of Chicago and has taught in the University of Arkansas.

Miss Lois Donaldson, a graduate of the U. of M. and for four years a teacher in the Tecumseh high school, will teach English in the place of Miss Wilhelmina Schulke.

Mrs. Almerne Montgomery has been transferred from the history department of junior high to the English department in senior high. Mrs. Alfreida Gilmore, Normal graduate, will take part of her work and also teach English in junior high.

Mrs. Edith Carr, a former teacher in the schools, has received her degree from the U. of M. and will teach mathematics in both junior and senior high schools. She will also do part of Principal Omans' work. Norris Wittsie, head of the science department, junior high, has succeeded Mr. Omans as principal.

Miss Ruth Foster, a Normal graduate who has been teaching in Northville, will teach English in place of Miss Grace Walz in junior high school.

Miss Gertrude Phillip will teach in the sixth grade, a junior high in the place of Miss Beatrice Seamans. Miss Phillips is a graduate of the Normal college and has been teaching in Bellaire.

Miss Hazel Ackerman, a new teacher in the primary department, comes from Flint and is a graduate of the Normal. She takes the place of Mrs. Sangren. Miss Pearl Randall, of Howell, is taking the place of Miss Black in the primary department.

Miss Cynthia Ruggles, of Columbia university, takes the place of Miss Florence McLouth in Woodruff school.

ROTARY-KIWANIS GAME CALLED THURSDAY 27TH.

The much-thought-of, much-talked-of ball game between the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs will be played on Thursday, July 27. Harry Sutherland has undertaken the management of the Kiwanis and the old reliable Dan South will look after the Rotary club and see to it that they are in good shape to repeat last year's trick when they beat their opponents with hands down.

As the situation sizes up at this time Quay Beery will do the hurling for the Rotary and Ben Thompson will occupy the mound for the Kiwanis. Both managers are slow in announcing the balance of their lineup, but with knowing smiles say that there will be some surprises for the fans.

The proceeds of the game will go to purchase equipment for the new contagious hospital and it is expected that several thousand tickets will be sold. Those who have this end of it in charge have promised on their honor to see to it that none escape the purchase price of a ticket.

FIND PEPPER IN ILLINOIS TOWN

MYSTERY SOLVED—PEPPER ARRESTED AND OUT ON BAIL.

Chief of Police Connors arrested Glenn E. Pepper, well known milk dealer here, at Aurora, Ill., Saturday on a charge of desertion. Pepper disappeared from his home three weeks ago Monday.

He was brought to the county jail in Ann Arbor late Sunday and arraigned before Justice Stadtmiller at the city hall here Monday afternoon. He asked for an examination, which was set for next Monday. He gave $2,000 bail for his appearance. He has refused to discuss his disappearance.

Pepper's arrest in Aurora ends a diligent search by Chief Connors in which he was several times close to Pepper's trail. It is understood that Connors had definite information that Pepper left on his own accord, and working on that theory, traced him to Detroit, where he learned he had boarded a Wabash train in Detroit for Chicago. Attempts to locate him in Chicago failed, but Connors later picked up his trail and found him working in the Aurora creamery, using the name of R. E. Fine.

Pepper is charged by his wife of deserting her and six small children. He had an excellent reputation throughout the community and at no time had Mrs. Pepper thought otherwise than that he had met with foul play until told by the chief of police that he was living in another state and under an assumed name.

His disappearance was unusually mystifying when it was learned that just before he had turned in several hundred dollars collected for the Ypsilanti Creamery company. This had made many believe he was a victim of foul play.

When he was brought into Justice Stadtmiller's court to be arraigned he stopped to caress his wife, but his father-in-law, Daniel Jewell, interfered with a well placed kick and officers had to restrain them from making demonstrations.

ALL ROAD CROSSINGS IN MICHIGAN TO BE OILED

Railroad crossing approaches on all state highways are to be oiled for a distance of 500 feet, it was announced by the state highway department June 22.

The announcement follows a decision of the state public utilities commission that a number of crossing accidents have been due to dust.

Several wrecks have been reported on crossings where open views of the track are obscured in both directions and the commission lays the blame for these calamities to dust clouds.

DR. FRAYER AT ROTARY LUNCHEON MONDAY

Dr. Wm. A. Frayer, of the University of Michigan, was the speaker at the Rotary luncheon Monday noon. He took for his subject the three loyalties, "Loyalty to God, Loyalty to Family and Loyalty to Country."

In the course of his discussion he said that America had done well in a century to develop this country, but to live on more attention should be given to literary and art, things that will help the whole world; he outlined the growing need of national co-operation if national life is to be sustained; he spoke of the various classes, religious and race issues and the troubles that arose from class consciousness; he took issue with foreigners who leave their country and come to America to enjoy the economic advantages found here and hold up his own land as superior to the country he chooses to live in. His talk was timely as the country is aroused with the mine and railroad strikes that threaten us at this time.

NEW HOTEL TO BE CALLED "THE HURON."

Mrs. Dimon H. Roberts has won the distinction of naming Ypsilanti's new hotel. The members of the committee appointed to select the most appropriate name from those sent in met at the Board of Commerce rooms Friday evening and found ready a list of 143 names suggested by residents of the city and vicinity.

Many of the names suggested incorporated the word "Huron," but Mrs. Roberts' suggestion was the only one exactly as chosen.

SPEEDERS ARRESTED.

Robert St. Clair and George Hepner both pleaded guilty Thursday afternoon to reckless driving. Justice Stadtmiller fined them each $15, which was paid. Chief of Police Connors arrested I. N. Ross, of St. Patrick, Quebec, Monday evening on a charge of speeding 35 miles an hour. Ross was to have appeared Wednesday at 10 a. m. before Justice Stadtmiller. He failed to appear and the $20 was forfeited to the city.

PARENT-TEACHER ASS'N AT NORMAL

HOLD TWO-DAY CONFERENCE—MANY LOCAL PEOPLE GIVE ADDRESSES.

A Parent-Teachers' association two-day conference was held at the Normal college Wednesday and Thursday, July 5 and 6. This is the first time a conference of this kind has ever been held in connection with the summer school.

As teachers from all over the country are in attendance at the Normal the influence of these important meetings will be far-reaching. All members of the parent-teachers' organizations in the city and surrounding country attended and made themselves acquainted with the wonderful work which this organization is carrying on. The Parent-Teachers' association is recognized as one of the greatest present-day educational forces.

Dr. Robert P. Shepherd, of Chicago, a man of national prominence in community or parent-teacher activities, gave two lectures, the first in Pease auditorium Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, which is general assembly time for the Normal students, and the second, an illustrated lecture, in Pease auditorium, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Many heard his message.

Thursday at 3 p. m. in the Training school chapel all were given an opportunity of getting in touch with officers of the state Parent-Teachers' association as well as many local workers.

Thursday afternoon at 3 Mrs. E. W. Kefer, Port Huron, president of the Michigan Parent-Teachers' association, presided at a conference. Addresses were also given by Miss Hutzler on "The Parent-Teacher Association and the Public Health," "Home," Rev. Harvey C. Colburn, "School," Superintendent Arthur G. Erickson, "Community," John McCann, and Miss Clara M. Wheeler, Grand Rapids, gave a report of the National Parent-Teacher association meeting at Tacoma, Wash.

The club will entertain the local Kiwanis club and the school officers of the 33 school districts which will be associated with the Normal college next year.

The Milan band will furnish the music and a fine program of three-minute speeches has been arranged.

FORTUNATO'S SWEET SHOP OPEN TO PUBLIC

Joe can well be proud of his effort, as he certainly now has one of the finest equipped stores of this kind that can be found anywhere, larger cities not excepted. With tearing down of the old building and the erection of the new Washington street has been made to look more metropolitan.

A fine new electric sign tells the public that this is Fortunato's Sweet Shop. On stepping on the inside you at once will be struck with fine arrangement that Joe has prepared for his customers. Stalls are beautifully arranged for those who like a little seclusion when they partake of their favorite dishes of ice cream and cooling beverages.

MOTORISTS MUST HAVE CERTIFICATE OF TITLE

The new law covering certificates of title must show who the pre-empt July 1. From now on in order to play safe when you purchase a car or dispose of one a certificate of title must show who the previous owner was. For failure to comply with this law there is a fine and also a jail sentence imposed.

The question comes up whether or not we are supposed to carry a certificate of title at all times with us in the car. This is answered by a letter received by H. Hutchins from the attorney general's office, which reads as follows:

"You are advised that in our opinion it is not necessary that the certificate of title should be kept with the car at all times. The question involved is one of providing title and can be taken care of in due course."

FEW ACCIDENTS HERE THE FOURTH

MANY LOCAL PEOPLE SPEND FOURTH AT NEARBY LAKES.

Ypsilanti suffered little from accidents over the Fourth. Three injuries, two being directly due to firecrackers, were all that brought local physicians out. The most serious accident happened to Frank Kramer, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Kramer, of Miles street. A firecracker exploded in his hand, the powder flying into his left eye. He had picked the firecracker up, not knowing it had been ignited. He was rushed to the University hospital, where every effort is being made to save his eyesight.

Miss Alice Ealy suffered a painful burn on her right hand when she was endeavoring to show her little brother how to fire off the crackers safely. It exploded, inflicting a painful wound.

Richard Frentner, nine years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Frentner, sustained a fractured arm when he fell from a horse at Somerset City, where he had gone for the day.

The fire department received one call when defective wires at 501 West Cross street caused a small blaze. Damage was slight.

GOLF CAUSES LOSS OF SEDAN TEMPORARILY

"The golf bug" caused, Miss Grace Riley 15 minutes' worry this morning. She was down town doing some shopping. She parked her sedan on the street. When she came to get her car it was gone. She called the police and Chief Connors responded.

While they were discussing the probable thief along came Fred Horner, well known golf player, with Miss Riley's car.

"Guess I better take you to headquarters," said the chief with a smile. Horner explained that his car and Miss Riley's looked the same and in his hurry he had taken the wrong one. His key fitted Miss Riley's car.

He left his car and took Miss Riley's and had driven half way to the country club before he discovered his mistake. His explanation was satisfactory to both Miss Riley and Chief Connors.

ROBERT REYNOLDS DIES FROM INJURIES THURS.

Robert Reynolds, 21, of 125 Miles street, died in Beyer hospital Thursday evening from injuries received Monday evening when his motorcycle collided with a Ford car driven by Miss Grace Blythe, of Wayne. They attempted to pass a parked car on Michigan avenue one mile this side of the Belleville road at the same time.

Reynolds was en route to Ypsilanti and Miss Blythe was driving toward Wayne. Neither could see beyond the parked car. Reynolds was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition, from which he never recovered. Miss Blythe was not seriously injured. Both machines were smashed.

CITY COUNCIL MET MONDAY

HOSPITAL RUNS SMOOTHLY UNDER GUIDANCE OF HOSPITAL COMMITTEE—CAR-NIVAL HERE JULY 10-15.

The city council met in regular session Monday night, with Mayor E. R. Beal presiding.

A joint meeting of the council and township board of Ypsilanti township was held preceding the council meeting to act on a petition for a drain west of the city. The county drain commissioner stated the object of the drain was to get rid of the water on the road just west of the city limits on Wash-tanaw road. On motion of Alderman Lathers it was voted that the drain was a public necessity and that the drain commissioner proceed to build the drain. Mayor E. R. Beal was chairman of the joint meeting and E. D. Foster was secretary.

The joint meeting then adjourned and a communication was read from Mayor Beal stating that the hospital board had resigned last January 16 and that the affairs of the hospital were now being conducted by a committee of the council known as the hospital committee. "The hospital has been run successfully since we have taken it over and is now showing a surplus instead of a deficit as it did under the hospital board." The matter of having the council continue running the hospital was referred to the ordinance committee and to the city attorney.

A communication was read relative to the gift of Prof. Wm. McAndrew, of New York city, who donated a framed statement to the city to be placed under the picture of Demetrius Ypsilanti in the city hall. On motion of Alderman Downing it was voted to receive the gift and extend a vote of thanks to the donor.

Property owners on Ballard street asked for an extension of the storm sewer. It was referred to the board of public works.

The council voted to give the Mulholland shows permission to hold a carnival July 10 to 15 on Reinhart field. The carnival company is to pay the city $25 per day license in advance. Manager O'Neill of the Mulholland shows stated the shows were all clean and that there would be no questionable girl shows.

The park commissioners submitted a communication saying that they had reconsidered their own recommendation for a tourist camp and still thought the Water Works park was the place for the camp. The council took no action, voting to receive and file the communication.

A detailed report of Beyer hospital was read showing that 60 patients were cared for in June and that the receipts were $2,116.14.

The poor commissioner reported he had spent $8 for the poor in June. Justice Stadtmiller reported he had paid to the city treasurer in June for fines, costs and fees the sum of $314.25.

Manager Older reported the cost of a sewer on Ballard street south of Pearl would be $247.50. The matter was laid on the table as both aldermen of the second ward were absent when the question came up. It was voted to purchase a new typewriter for the city clerk to cost $78 and the old machine traded in. Alderman Lathers made a motion to submit to the city attorney the question as to whether or not the Air Alarm company had acquired title to a piece of property given to it by the city upon certain conditions.

Has brought my life to seem one perfect whole.
Here to the altar will I bring my child.

Will I with lips and heart respond in vow
That this the choicest gift the year has given
Shall be by me held as in trust from heaven.

SPEED LIMIT IS FIXED IN ANY MICHIGAN CITY

The speed limit on main street in any Michigan village or city is 15 miles an hour.

This was decided June 23 in an opinion sent to Colonel Roy C. Vandercook, head of the state department of public safety, by Merlin Wiley, attorney general.

A number of complaints have been received to the effect that village officials, in their zeal to make of main street a haven of safety, have placarded their streets with signs limiting the speed to less than that prescribed by the state law.

The attorney general holds that the state law, which provides for 15 miles an hour on business streets, 20 miles in residential sections, and 35 miles on country highways, stands, except in city parks.

A tree toad loved a she toad
That lived in a tree;
She was a 3-toed tree toad,
But a 2-toed tree toad was he,
The 2-toed tree toad tried to win
The she toad's friendly nod;
For the 2-toed tree toad loved the ground

But vainly the 2-toed tree toad tried;
He couldn't please her whim;

The she toad vetoed him.—Ex.

"Cut to the Nth."

This phrase signifies wholly, or to the utmost degree, unnoticed by a friend. The expression is taken from a mathematical formula, where n stands for any number. "Cut to the nth, plus one," signifies more than any number.

ON BEING CORRECT WITHOUT A FAULT

A gentleman instinctively knows how to react toward any social amenity. He is at ease because he is always natural. In his selection of clothes he chooses those patterns and modes that are conducive to poise and grace. This affords him an advantage in his daily contact with other men. The knowledge that he is correctly attired enables him to give his whole mind to the niceties of an occasion.

Invariably, such men choose Hirsh,

Wickwire Clothes. They find in these garments a well defined atmosphere of quiet dignity that to them is essential to good dress. It is not surprising that Hirsh, Wickwire Clothes should excel in these matters. A score of years, devoted exclusively to the fashioning of gentlemen's clothes have made Hirsh, Wickwire an arbiter in what is correct. You will find these clothes reasonably priced. They are also ready to wear home.

Says Country Needs Clean, Smart, Perfect Children

George W. Dickinson Looks Forward to Greatest Better Babies Show.

Geo. W. Dickinson has as an assistant H. M. Kurtzworth, associate director of the Kansas City, Mo., art institute.

Art with Mr. Dickinson, has grown to be a hobby and, he contends it is not the quantity of things one has in a home, but the quality and the manner in which one places what he has.

Place a few plants properly about your home, with the correct coloring, and you will obtain a far more beautiful result than if you piled in a hundred varieties without respect to arrangement, says Mr. Dickinson. At the fair this year, several demonstrations of how to do this, are promised.

"When an artist builds a structure of any kind he gives respect to quality and not quantity," Mr. Dickinson asserts. "Then, when he completes it, he is reasonably sure the structure is going to appeal to the layman as well as the artists.

"Life is not all dollars and cents. Our producing power is not the greatest importance. If we have a home we love, we can see the finer side of life. Naturally, we absorb a spirit of kindness for others.

"Art builds up a community. Try placing well, a few pictures in your home. Even the arrangement of your furnishings may alter the position from which you view your happiness."

While Mr. Dickinson pays particular attention to this division of the fair and realizes it means much to the farmer to have a nice home, he is fond of children and does not neglect to see they come in for due consideration at the fair.

To him, better babies is a mighty important subject and he is intent on making the fair play an important role in the development of them.

The father and mother should take just as much care in the raising of a baby as the good farmer does in the raising of his thoroughbred stock, he contends.

"Give the baby the best environment possible," says Mr. Dickinson.

"Be sure your baby grows up with the right type of associates.

"What this country needs most of all is clean, intelligent, perfect babies. Babies need much open air, free country in which to romp and exercise. They need care. Care, that is the secret of better babies."

Mothers bringing their babies to the contest at the State Fair will receive valuable information from the judges in charge.

REAL GENIUSES, NOT "QUEER"

For Instance, Taking Insufficient Nourishment Cannot Be Taken as Mark of Brilliance.

The legend that Meredith lived on the contents of a sack of oatmeal while he wrote his masterpieces is pure myth, writes St. John Ervine in the Manchester (Eng.) Guardian. He was particularly addicted to the pleasures of the table and could not have written his books on a diet of oatmeal. His letters are full of references to food and wine and, like Doctor Johnson, he contemplated writing a cookery book. He had the capacity, which every man of genius has, of being highly interested in the most ordinary things.

It is your third-rate person who is not interested in food and drink and the common things of life. Your man of genius demands that these things shall be so attended to that he can appreciate them at their best. Moreover, since eating and drinking are necessary to all of us, he wishes them to be done in such a way that he shall not be diverted from his job by complaints of the clumsy and insufficient arrangements for them.

Herbert Spencer complained of the stupid spouts that manufacturers put on jugs—so that it is impossible to pour liquid out of them without spilling it—and he went to the trouble to invent a paper fastener because he was dissatisfied with those in common use. A third-rate person would have been much too superior to think of such things.

Glad the Horse Kicked Him

"I am thankful that horse kicked me in the face on January 10," Private John A. Allen of Thompsonstown, Pa., announced when he reached home several days ago. He attributes the injury he suffered from the horse as being responsible for his early return to this country and discharge. He served for two weeks in the heaviest fighting in the Argonne Forest with a unit of engineers, and later was in a Paris hospital for several weeks with influenza and pneumonia.

Foreign Words Assimilated.

Speaking of the adoption of foreign words into the English language, the editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal notes for the benefit of purists that "gradually our language is simplified. The chauffeur becomes a driver, the aviator becomes an airman, the hydroaeroplane becomes a seaplane, and nobody's ashamed to use English in ordering a small cup of coffee."

MILK AND VITAMINES

Arthur Brisbane, speaking editorially last week to several million readers, said:

"Money for Wall Street speculation cost only $2.75 again yesterday. More important than the ups and downs of stock is the steady upward march of scientific discovery. One man at Johns Hopkins, after working for years, has discovered a new particular vitamin. He calls it 'vitamine D' that builds up bone. That discovery may put an end to the disease called rickets that kills thousands of children and makes others miserable cripples through life."

This, and the other Vitamines, are contained in our Whole, Raw, Class A Milk. The scientists say heating milk destroys some of the Vitamines and impair others. Better be safe than sorry. Buy Hatch Herd Class A Milk.

Hatch Herd, which produces only Class A Milk, is certified by both the U. S. and State officials to be free from tuberculosis. This is an indispensable safeguard. Do you get it?

RAY BATTERY WINS FOUR GAMES IN THREE DAYS

The Ray Battery outfit's deep in its winning stride, taking the last four games in three days when they trounced the fast Postum Cereal of Battle Creek on the latter's field by a score of 3-2 Saturday and then coming back and pummeling them unmercifully for an 18-7 score on the same field Sunday afternoon.

Not content with this the boys rested Monday and then met the Morgan Wright club of Detroit on the local field the Fourth in a double-header and forced them to take the small end of an 8-7 score in a 19-inning game in the morning and a 11-10 score in the afternoon.

H. Crossman treated the Battle Creek fans to real baseball Saturday when he pitched the locals to a 2-2 victory. Good support and a good combination kept them on top throughout. Sunday A. Rynearson occupied the mound for the Battery boys and they enjoyed a real old fashioned slaughter, placing their hits just right and often enough to give all a trip around the bases, 18 men scoring for the locals, while the Cereals made the circuit seven times. Battery making must give the local boys the juice to play winning ball, whereas the manufacture of cereals is not so beneficial.

The first game Tuesday started wrong when the Detroiters hit Johnny Ferenz for five runs in the first and a brace in the second for a seven run lead. When it was seen that Johnny was due for a pounding he was yanked and Rynearson took his place. Despite the fact that Rynier had worked a full game Sunday he let the visitors down in order for the next eight innings, fanning 14 and allowing only three hits. The Ray Battery meanwhile plugged along and in the eighth tied the count. The ninth went fruitless and a tenth was necessary to decide the game. Crane scored the winning run on a single by Jimmie Hole. The visitors lost a chance to score in the tenth when Carlson scooped a hot grounder off the grass tops in the most spectacular play of the season.

The only pitcher available for the afternoon game was Crossman, who in spite of a sore arm kept going while the two teams alternately held the lead. Both teams scored in the first and the visitors came back in the second with two more on a double by Schmidt. Still another came in the third in a pretty double steal executed by Loepp and Beauchaire.

With a three-run lead against them in their half of the third the locals filled the bases by singles, Gillen, Bell and Hellenberg each roosting on a sack when Carlson cracked a lustrous double, scoring the three runners and tying the score. Both teams scored again in the fifth, the Ray Battery coming in the form of a circuit clout by Jimmy Hole with no one on.

In the sixth the Ray scored again on a wild heave and in the seventh repeated, giving them a two-run lead. In the visitors' half of the eighth they found Crossman and pounded him for five runs as he weakened. Rynearson came to the rescue and retired the side.

The ninth looked hopeless for the Ray with the visitors leading by three runs and at bat again, but Rynearson retired them in short order, giving only one safety, and the Ray came to bat for the last time. Hole, first up, doubled and scored from second on a passed ball. Hellenberg walked and took second on Bell's single, Gillen out. Carlson got his second two-bagger, scoring Hellenberg and sending Bell to third. Bartells out. Hamerschmidt smashed on a down third base line for the two runs needed. Umpires, Holloway and Donahue.

The Ray Battery will not have a game Saturday but will play the strong Pinckney team here Sunday afternoon.

HENRY DE NIKE INJURED IN FALL FROM LADDER.

Henry De Nike, 65, a painter, was seriously injured shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon when he fell from the ladder while painting the house of Mrs. H. G. Wells, 305 West Cross street. Dr. Kellogg was called, and following an examination announced that Mr. De Nike had suffered a broken shoulder bone, a broken rib, and had been badly bruised and cut about the head. He was taken to Beyer Memorial hospital.

SUPER-WESTERN FILM COMING TO WUERTH.

"The Fox," Harry Carey's first big Universal-Jewel super feature and which is the first super-western picture ever screened, is coming to the Wuert theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

The concluding scenes were made at Universal City at night, where a picturesque stretch of country was illuminated by a flaring brush fire around which dramatic action was filmed.

Harry Carey himself wrote "The Fox." It was adapted to the screen by Lucien Hubbard and filmed under the direction of Robert Thornby. It will make motion picture history by its dramatic force, its picturesque locale, its interesting cast and the fact that regular United States cavalry was used to furnish atmosphere.

Most of the story was filmed on the Mojave desert, near Red Rock, where a modern army camp was built by Universal to quarter the big outfit necessary to maintain production. Near by was encamped G and E troops of the 11th United States Cavalry, especially detailed to the production by Major General Muir, commanding general of the Ninth Corps Area.

Graphic shots of the regulars going into action with Harry Carey's own flying squadron of cow-punchers riding on the flanks, breath-snatching views of an explosion that churned up the earth on an acre, a tender love story and some of the most magnificent scenery every captured by the camera, will add to the appeal of the story.

Harry Carey was supported by Betty Ross Clark in the leading feminine role, and by such popular screen favorites as Alan Hale, George Nichols, John Harron, Gertrude Claire, George Cooper, Breezy Eason, Jr., Charles Le Moyne, Captain C. E. Anderson, Harold Chambers and others.

Miss Adella Jackson, second grade teacher of the Normal Training school, is attending school in Wisconsin this summer. Miss Marian Watson, who has had a year's leave of absence in Florida, has returned and teaching the second grade in the Training school.

Storm Country Polly

She was waiting for Oscar to continue, but he evidently did not intend to; so, settling back as if anxious to start, she said coldly:

"I'll go to her then, as soon as I can."

"When—today, ma'am?" asked Oscar eagerly.

If she had to approach Polly Hopkins about this disagreeable matter, the sooner the better, Evelyn thought. "Yes," she consented languidly. "I might go now, I suppose."

"But you won't find her home till night, Eve," Marcus informed her. "She's gone to see her father before he goes to Auburn. I tried to put the quietus on that, but Bob cut up so I told the sheriff to let her in."

"Then I'll telephone you later, Mr. Bennett," said Evelyn, lifting her chin haughtily as if he were really beneath her consideration. "Good afternoon!"

The hours passed slowly by! It seemed an eternity to Oscar while he waited the call from Evelyn. When he heard her voice over the telephone, he answered gruffly.

"Now, don't be nasty, Oscar," ordered Evelyn imperiously. "I'm doing the best I can. I'm in a booth talking, and if I call meet me at seven, we'll go together to Polly Hopkins. Does that suit you all right?"

"You don't suit me very well," Oscar grumbled into the receiver. "I'd like to give you the licking of your life, my lady."

Evelyn's laugh came ringing across the wire.

"Don't put yourself out, my dear man," she taunted. "Now, don't start bullying me over the phone, Oscar, for I won't stand it. Hold your temper if you can possibly do so. For once do as I tell you! Will you?"

"Oh, I suppose so," Bennett rapped out. "Where'll I meet you?"

"Well, let me see. At seven on the boulevard, near the lane."

"All right," and Oscar slammed up the receiver without waiting to hear any more, and proceeded about his farm tasks. Thoughts of anger toward Eve, now so overbearing and contemptuous, were soon crowded out, however, by anticipation of the time when Polly would belong to him—he his to love or abuse at his own sweet will, for Oscar had little doubt that the squatter girl would eventually yield to his will.

Pollyop, meanwhile, quite unconscious of Oscar's vicious intentions, was already utterly overwhelmed with misery.

After the meager supper was over that night, she sat crouched near the wood-box, her arm around Billy Hopkins' stringy neck. Granny Hope was in bed and Wee Jerry, having cried himself to sleep, was in Jeremiah's room, rolled up in a blanket.

For the first time in her life Polly had seen her father weep. How impudently she had kissed away his tears! How she had hung to his neck! When they had been forced to leave him, Jerry had shrieked his misery all the way through the streets of Ithaca.

To make the matter worse, it began to rain, to thunder and lighten. And now, a forlorn, lonely little creature, she sat listening to the tempest outside with no company but the billy goat.

How listless and hopeless she felt! Only when the thunder rolled over the lake, and the lightning flashed across the sky, did she lift her head. When she was happy, Polly loved the storms, but now, with Daddy in Auburn, how could she bear the thrashing rain and the moan of the willow trees as they swung to and fro over the shanty roof?

She found herself wishing fearfully that the storm would sweep off to the south and down behind the hills. Over and over in her mind went the thought that perhaps she could have helped Daddy if she had done what Evelyn wanted her to. Why hadn't she consented to marry Oscar two weeks ago? She knew why, and, blushing, blamed herself. She could not keep the image of Robert Percival from smiling at her.

All of a sudden a frightful flash of lightning made dim the flicker from the small candle, and was followed instantly by a thunderous roar that shook the very earth. Mingled with it came a woman's scream. Polly struggled to her feet. Some one was in trouble! Some squatter-woman was calling her. She dashed toward the door just as it flung wide open, and Evelyn Robertson rushed in.

"Polly Hopkins," she cried, grasping the squatter girl's arm, "Pollyop, something's wrong Oscar, and he's dead in the road."

Frantically she drew the dazed Polly over the threshold. The darkness was dense, and the torrents of rain pelted their faces. Another zigzag streak of fire across the sky, making a vivid picture as it blazed Cornell university into plain view. In the white light of it, Polly saw a man lying face down in the path leading to the shanty. He made no effort to get up as the two girls bent over him. "Mebbe he ain't dead," muttered Polly, shuddering. "Let's lug him in the hut."

Between them they dragged the heavy, inert body into the shanty and shut the door. Oscar looked dead when they turned him over. His face was livid, and his eyes tightly shut. "The thunder hit him, huh?" questioned Polly, awestruck.

Shudder after shudder ran over Evelyn. "I don't know," she moaned. "Yes, I suppose so. Oh, it was dreadful!"

She began to cry, wringing her hands desperately.

"Don't do that," begged Pollyop, with a shiver. "Come on an' help me get 'im up on my bunk."

Weak from the shock, Evelyn was of little service in lifting Oscar. But the bed was low, and finally after much tugging, he was rolled lifelessly over on his back, stretched to his full length on the rickety cot.

Standing side by side, the girls looked anxiously down upon him.

"I guess mebbe he's dead, ain't he?" queried Polly woefully.

Shaking off her superstitious terror, Evelyn touched the prostrate man. Perhaps he was dead; and out of somewhere a thought shot into her mind that if he were, her troubles were over.

"I don't know," she whispered. "But he looks so!"

Pollyop shoved Evelyn aside and slipped her arm under Bennett's head. She seemed to have lost all aversion to him. She realized then only that a human being was suffering, perhaps dead. At her tender touch the man's eyes flew open; and, panic-stricken, Pollyop withdrew her arm and was back beside the other girl before she spoke.

"He's got life in him, Miss Eve," she chattered between her teeth. "Look at his eyes! God, ain't it awful!"

Quietly Oscar lay gazing at the girls as they stared at him. Polly was the first to go to him.

"Feel awful sick, eh, Oscar?" she asked in a low tone.

The man did not answer even by a movement of his lids.

"He can't talk," she went on, looking around at Evelyn. "He ought to have a doctor. Can't you go up to the boulevard an' get Doc Bacon?"

A fresh burst of tears so choked Evelyn Robertson that for a space she could not answer.

"No, I can't go out in this awful storm again," she finally replied. "Of course, I can't," she repeated, swallowing. "I'm afraid. I won't go! I won't take a step. If any one goes—"

"Then stay by him," interjected Polly, dully, "an' I'll go!"

Ashamed to declare that she was afraid to be left alone with Oscar, Evelyn watched Pollyop as she went out and softly closed the door behind her.

Polly Hopkins lingered several moments to accustom her eyes to the night's blackness. Beyond to the east Lake Cayuga rushed on toward Ithaca as if its intentions were to swallow the little town in one huge mouthful. Pollyop crooned over mechanically words which fell hourly from Granny Hope.

"Ask an' it shall be given thee," she whispered. "Then if that's so, let me get some one to help Oscar."

Through the clatter of the elements she heard the sound of footsteps off in the dark road. An answer to her prayer was about to step out of the night gloom. She hoped it was Larry Bishop or Lye Braeger. Opening her lips, she gave the weird, crying, squatter-call of the Storm country; and a voice that clutched at her heart answered her.

Then, by the next flash of jagged lightning, she saw Robert Percival coming toward her.

"Is that you, Polly?" he called. "What's the matter?"

"Yep," she faltered timidly. "I got some one sick in the shanty."

Of all the people she had expected to see, he was the last. As she waited for him to approach, Pollyop's active mind grasped the fact that now Robert would know what his cousin had done. She saw no way to keep him in ignorance of Evelyn's relation to Oscar, and she was too excited to think of an excuse to keep him outside.

"Pollyop," commenced Robert, "I had to see you if only for a few minutes. Wait a second before you go in."

Confused and agitated, the girl did not stir a step until he was bending over her. One arm went around her shoulders, one tender hand pressed her head against his breast.

"Daddy's gone!" she choked almost inaudibly. "They've took him to Auburn, huh?"

"Yes, dear child," answered Robert, his own throat full with emotion. "But what I came to tell you is this, dear. I've already set things moving to bring him back. I couldn't sleep to-night until I saw you."

A long shudder ran the length of Polly's body; her legs grew so weak she would have fallen but for the strong arms holding her up.

"I want him awful bad," came up in a breath to the pale young man.

"And I say, Polly dear, that he's coming home," repeated Robert, "and every day I want you to expect him. Will you trust me, darling?"

He had asked her that question once, but that was before Old Marc had railroaded Daddy Hopkins to Auburn.

"Will you, Pollyop?" urged Robert passionately, lifting her face and laying his warm lips on hers.

With swift-moving breaths she flung both arms around his neck.

"I'll trust you every day an' all day!" She hesitated and turned her head. A sound in the hut had frightened her. She knew Robert had heard it, too, for he reached out his hand to open the door.

"We'll go in," said he, taking her arm and gathering both of her hands into his.

By a sudden movement, Polly pushed him backward.

"I'd rather you'd make off," she told him, unsteadily. "Mebbe I can find a squatter."

"No, my dear," returned Robert. "When you need help, and I'm here, you can't call any one else."

While he was speaking, he had disengaged his hands and had lifted the latch.

Trembling from head to foot, Pollyop followed him into the hut.

When Robert caught sight of his pale cousin, he stopped short.

"You're not ill, Eve, dear?" he cried, going to her quickly. "Polly said some one was sick here."

He glanced around the shanty. A throb of happiness made his pulses beat faster. "The Greatest Mother in the World" still held her place on the wall. While he was contemplating the wonder of the picture, his thoughts went back to the day he had given it to his Littlest Mother in the World. Billy-goat Hopkins mousing in the wood-box brought his thoughts back, but not soon enough to catch the meaning glance that Evelyn shot at the squatter girl, who was gazing steadily at her. With a fling of contempt Miss Robertson walked to him and laid her hand on his arm.

"No, I'm not the least sick, Bob, but—just now—" she hesitated, then continued hurriedly: "There's a little boy here; and I often bring him food and candy. When I got here," she whirled around and flung her hand toward the cot, "this man was so terribly sick that I told Polly Hopkins she ought to get a doctor. Naturally, I consented to stay until some one else came, but I never expected—you!"

The explanation brought a groan from Pollyop.

Slowly Robert drew his gaze from Oscar's pallid countenance and turned to her. He looked so shocked and hurt that she impulsively moved toward him.

"How'd he come here?" Robert exclaimed, going to the bedside. "Why, it's Bennett! What's he doing here?"

So passionate were his tones, so full of that demanding quality that Evelyn, fearing Pollyop would tell the truth, again caught hold of him.

"He's in love with Polly Hopkins, Bob," she offered, trying to speak calmly, "and really it's none of our business. Is it? But I do think he ought to have a doctor."

Robert staggered back, flashing a glance at the squatter girl which seemed to burn her through and through.

"Are you married to him?" he demanded.

"Dead Men's Club."

The formation of a Dead Men's club out of the 2,000 ex-service men who, while living, are officially listed as killed in action is a probability, it was learned at national headquarters of the American Legion. William Wart of Akron, O., one of the "casualties," who was gassed and left on the field in Picardy, has suggested the formation of such an organization.

Her pale lips framed the single word, "No."

"Then how in God's name came he here in your—"

Two strides brought him so close that Polly felt his hot breath against her cold face. She cried out in anguish and started to speak; but Evelyn broke in upon her in frantic haste.

"Now listen to me, Bob," she insisted. "You are very unkind! What's happened here is none of your business nor mine! Every squatter woman has a man, and you can't expect Polly Hopkins to be an exception. All you can do is to get a doctor."

Robert passed his hand over his face. He looked dazedly from Pollyop, so silent and pale, to the man so horribly still on the cot.

"All right," he replied gruffly. "Come on! This is no place—"

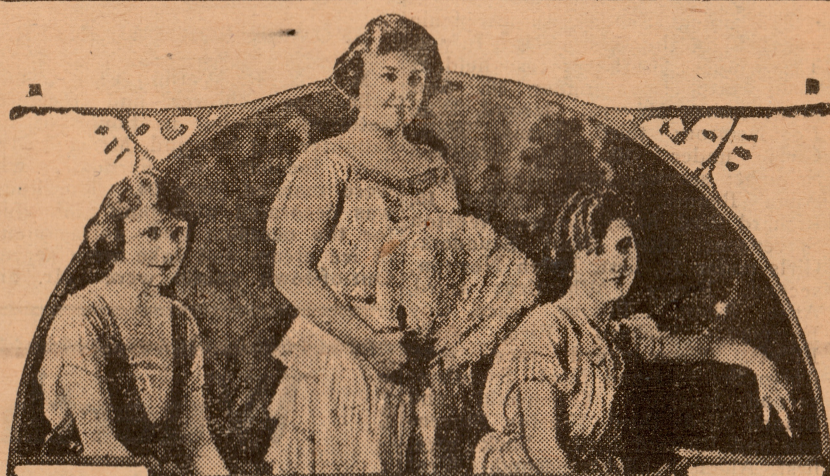

He flung a glance at Polly Hopkins that struck her like a blow from a whip, and finished, "no place for a decent girl."

Stupefied by the flood of disasters that had overwhelmed her, Polly watched Robert Percival lead his cousin from the hut. After the first wild impulse to tell him the truth, she had made no further effort to clear herself.

Evelyn Robertson was going to hold her to the word she had made two years ago! Being innately honest herself, Pollyop could see no way to lighten her own dejection or to still Robert's fierce anger. Her little world was tumbling to pieces around her. No longer could she think of him as her own, though but a few short minutes before he had comforted her with kisses and promises. He had demanded that she should trust him, yet at the very first trial of his faith, he had flung away and left her alone.

Firestone GUM-DIPPED CORDS -and Their High Mileage Records

The high mileage records of Firestone Cords continue to emphasize the fact that Firestone methods are different and better. These records, steadily increasing in number and in mileage totals, justify the Firestone contention that there is one best way to build tires.

Among the primary sources of Firestone extra mileage is double gum-dipping—the saturation of the cord plies in a vat of liquid gum—thus coating each cord and virtually eliminating internal heat and friction.

Another is Firestone air bag curing, with its 200 pound pressure, which places every cord accurately and equalizes the tension.

By blending the rubbers of different plantations and types, and by tempering it before mixing, Firestone men add still more mileage.

Many cord tires are good—a few are better—Firestone users say one is best.

Those who have already experienced Firestone mileage, have stopped shopping and experimenting—they have made these cords standard equipment. Investigate your friends' success with Firestone Cords—and buy your next tire accordingly. Come in and get your share of extra mileage.

Fordson TRACTOR

"Yes I've more Time for Myself Since I Got a Fordson"

The Fordson Tractor is taking much of the drudgery out of farm life; it is solving the labor problem; it is reducing the cost of preparing land by almost one half of what it was with horses; and it is saving one third to one half of the farmer's time; and making farm life more attractive.

The Fordson will run your threshing machine—and at the most opportune time for you. It will operate the milking machines, saw your wood, fill your silo, pump the water, and take care of every kind of belt work.

And don't forget—it will plow six to eight acres in a ten hour day, handling two plows with ease.

Thus the Fordson is the ideal year-round tractor. It will pay for its fall and winter keep in many ways.

There's a big story to tell you about the Fordson—and a true one—come in and get the facts. Or, if you prefer, telephone or drop us a card and we will bring them to you.

SUSPENDERS BACK AGAIN.

Suspenders are coming back, and out. They are not hidden under vests and coats but strike the eye on countless individuals and are often of the same shade as the wearer's shirt. They are not limited in color or design; in fact the louder the better. Belts are worn also to complete the effect. It is said that the fashion started among men who had allowed their sylph-like forms to expand during the past winter and now that they are receding an extra notch taken in the belt results in filling trousers at the waist line. Violent suspenders and the conventional belt give the bizarre effect, are practical and allow for variations in the waist line, according to the seasons.

STATE FAIR EXECUTIVE BODY

Heading the executive committee of the Michigan State Fair, which has general charge of the business of the exposition between regular meetings of the board of managers, is John S. Haggerty.

Chairman Haggerty, a former president of the Michigan Agricultural society, has been a member of the fair board for years. When the fair came under the jurisdiction of the state, Mr. Haggerty was one of the first men named to the board by the governor.

Oscar Webber, prominent Detroit merchant, Thomas E. Newton, a former fair president and well known packer, Charles T. Prescott, Tawas City, and Clarke L. Brody, of Lansing, are associated with Mr. Haggerty on the executive committee.

The function of this committee is to advise and counsel with G. W. Dickinson, secretary-manager of the state fair, and much of the fair's success can be attributed to the support these men have given the fair executive.

Mr. Haggerty was president from 1916 until 1921, succeeding D. D. Aiken of Flint, in that capacity. Mr. Webber's appointment to the board in 1921 for four years is attributed to his ability as a shrewd business man and the fact he is one of Michigan's best known pure bred livestock breeders. He heads the Michigan Art Institute, which has been an interesting part of the annual expositions since its origin.

In 1911 and 1912, Thomas E. Newton was president of the fair. Mr. Newton is the member in charge of the new coliseum. Charles T. Prescott was elected to the fair board in 1918. Governor Groesbeck appointed him again in 1921 for three years. He is in charge of the horse department.

Clarke L. Brody, manager of the Michigan farm bureau, is serving a two-year term on the fair board. He will head the agricultural department this year.

CARE CHILD'S DEFECTS
URGED DURING VACATION

Two months hence when the old swimming hole and carefree vacation days perform a fadeaway and the merciless and exacting school bell ushers in a season of parted hair and clean hands, every school child in Michigan should have been examined and declared to be physically fit.

"Correct all defects in children and one of the greatest problems of the state health department will be eliminated," says Dr. R. M. Olin, state health commissioner. "Now is the time to do it. Parents will allow the vacation to pass without attending to the defects that can be corrected and then take the children out of classes during the school year are making a serious mistake."

"Children become discouraged when they are unable to keep up in their school work, and when they see their classmates forging ahead they assume the 'I don't care' attitude. Adenoids and enlarged and diseased tonsils may be poisoning their systems and later in life may cause rheumatism, indigestion and appendicitis. Poisons from diseased tonsils and bad teeth are extremely dangerous."

According to figures compiled in the health department nearly half of the school children of the state are suffering from defects which are making them more susceptible to infectious diseases—besides handicapping them in laying a foundation for an education or rendering them liable to the secondary defects of later life. Many parents have these defects remedied during vacation time. Many more do not. A general warning to all parents is: "Take your child to a doctor now and save school time."

APEX MOTOR COMPANY
HALTS PRODUCTION

The Apex Motor company has discontinued operations at its plant here preparatory to the sale of the local property, according to a letter sent out by the creditors' committee to the creditors of the concern.

It is understood that the corporation will move to Chelsea, where production will be resumed. The Guy Disc Valve Motor company is also to operate in Chelsea. The work of moving will start as soon as the inventory has been completed.

Following is the letter as mailed out by the creditors' committee: "The Apex Motor corporation has ceased production and also eliminated payrolls pending the sale of their property and inventories. It was expected that the sale would have been consummated before the present notes became due but unfortunately the details of arranging same have not been completed."

"We are enclosing herewith renewal note, the interest for March and July periods being included in the face value of the note, and trust that sufficient moneys and bankable paper will be in the hands of the creditors' committee before next notes are due to take care of your claim."
